H. F. JOHNSON & Co.
250 Main Street, Richmond, Va.

On the orange social Tuesday evening, March 17th, at Presbyterian Church.

Thodore Wooley, Erie transfer clerk, has been off duty all week on account of sickness.

Rev. O. Lawrence, of Columbus, will preach in the Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning.

Miss Eva Yake entertained a small party of her friends Friday evening, at her home on west Center street.

James Miller, of Columbus, manager of the Grand Opera House, was in the city Friday forenoon on business.

Literary and musical selections will be worth hearing, at the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening, March 17th.

Will Aronhalt, an extra Erie operator, has been given a key at Mansfield and left today to accept his new position.

Miss Eva Allen, of this city, will leave Monday for Cleveland, O., where she will take a two years' course of study in the hospital.

H. P. Leavitt, in advance of "Si Perkins" was in the city today arranging for the appearance of that show here next Saturday evening, March 21st.

Miss Mamie Knapp very pleasantly entertained a small party of her schoolmates Thursday evening, at the home of her parents on Mr. Vernon avenue.

"The Runaway Wife" company arrived in the city at noon today from Circleville. The company will go to Columbus Sunday and will open a week's engagement in that city.

Last evening a most delightful time was had by the ladies of Cooper Corps at the home of Mrs. B. F. Waples, on north West street. Music, recitations, games and taffy was enjoyed by all.

E. E. Blaisdell, business manager for "Si Perkins," arrived in the city last night and was taken sick. He is lying at Hotel Marion with lung fever, and will likely be confined to his room for some time.

Three tramps were run in Friday afternoon and locked up for the night, but were dismissed. A large gang of the order have been infesting the C. H. V. and T. yards for the past couple days, holding forth in box cars.

The Wyman Manufacturing Co. is now running all its machinery and has ordered more, to be placed in operation at once. Material is now being put in shape to manufacture a large output of their implements for the season.

Judge Matthews received a telegram from Salamanca, N. Y., today, announcing the serious illness of his daughter, Mrs. Burt Simpson. Mrs. Simpson fell and injured herself a week ago, which resulted in sickness. Mrs. Matthews will leave this evening to visit her daughter.

A telegram from W. J. Idleman states that Dr. C. E. Drake left Portland, Ore., last Thursday, with the remains of his wife, for Nevada, O., where they are expected to arrive by Wednesday. The funeral will take place there next Thursday. The remains will be interred at Nevada, Mrs. Drake's former home.

Prof. E. J. Yanger and W. H. Parkinson arrived in this city from Cleveland this morning, where they have been in attendance at the annual commencement of the Euclid avenue Business College. Prof. Yanger will remain in the city a short time, the guest of Mr. Parkinson. He is an experienced teacher in book keeping, shorthand and penmanship.

Miss Jennie Adams, representing Robinson & Fonda, shoe and slipper dealers, of Rochester, N. Y., was in the city Friday. This house has the only two ladies selling footwear on the road. Miss Adams is a bright little lady and understands the shoe business thoroughly. She is also making large sales in most of towns where she goes, and she could show many of the sterner sex, in the same business, some splendid pointers on selling goods.

It has been generally understood that the Lime City Business College would be one of the Caton chain of colleges and such, until very recently was the intention, but after all arrangements had been completed and a part of the equipments ordered, Prof. Caton decided not to open the college. Prof. Parkinson, who had been instrumental in working up the college here, upon hearing of this decision immediately resigned his position as principal of the shorthand and type writing departments of Caton's Buffalo college and has returned to his home in this city and will at once proceed to fit up the college with modern equipments preparatory to its opening early in April. The college will be even better under its present management than it would otherwise have been, for Prof. Caton intended to have the actual business course completed at his Cleveland school, but under Mr. Parkinson's management the college will be complete in all its courses.

Birthday Party.
About thirty-five of Will Cressap's friends met at his home Friday evening and gave him a very pleasant surprise in honor of his nineteenth birthday. The evening was spent in charming music and amusing games. Delicious refreshments were served at a late hour, after which the crowd retired to their homes, feeling greatly pleased with their evening's enjoyment.

The Girl Located.
[Bucara Forum.]

Possibly the most pleasant little reunion occurring in this city for some time took place at the Pennsylvania depot one day this week, and one of the principals, G. W. Hull, is yet enthusiastic over the recollections of boyhood scenes. He accompanied a relative to the station Tuesday and after the train arrived an elderly stranger stepped up, grasped his hand and cordially called him by name. Mr. Hull was nonplussed until he found that he was shaking hands with Lyman Doty, a retired farmer and banker residing in Missouri, with whom he was a constant companion fifty-five years ago. They were born and lived seven years on adjoining farms in this county and also lived side by side two years in Marion county, continually in each other's company, and getting "larruped" by their fathers for the same offenses which country lads have a tendency to fall into. When Mr. Hull was ten years of age his friend moved with his parents to Missouri and from that time forward until Tuesday they had never corresponded or met, and Mr. Doty only recognized Mr. Hull at the depot by the striking resemblance he bore to his father. After talking for a while Doty called his old friend into the waiting room of the depot and subsequently to confidentially informing him that his wife had died a year ago, wanted to know where he could find that rosy cheeked little girl, Attie Scribner, with whom they were both in love and over whom they had so many boyish quarrels. He said he wanted to see her and renew the memories of youthful days. Mr. Hull gasped and was not more than two seconds in telling him that Attie Scribner was now Mrs. Attie Hull, but that there were no objections to his calling around. Mr. Doty looked somewhat disappointed, but accompanied Mr. Hull to the house where the trio spent several delightful hours. He left the same evening for Marion county, but not without a picture of the once "rosy cheeked" girl in his pocket, and will go from there to Deane county to visit his mother who is now living at the age of ninety-one years.

Mr. Hull greatly enjoyed the visit, but is glad he is living when he thinks of his widower friend coming a thousand miles to hunt up Attie Scribner and revive old associations.

Arm Badly Injured.

John Bebout, an employee of the Wyman Manufacturing Co., met with a severe and most painful accident at the company's new works, Thursday. He was working at a swinging cut-off saw, and having thrown off the power, reached in front of the saw for a board. His right forearm was caught in the action, and the blade went to the bone for a distance of three inches, stopping the machine. The victim will be laid up for some time with his injuries.

Jesse Bebout, a brother of the injured man, narrowly escaped serious injuries at the same machine Friday. His coat was caught by the saw, and together with his vest, was almost torn completely off. His escape from serious injuries was fortunate.

"Billy" Rounds leaves this evening for Mansfield, after a week's stay in this city, in the interest of the Jackson Wagon Co., of Jackson, Michigan.

SOUTHERN RAMBLES.

FLORIDA NOTES THAT HAVE ARRIVED TEN DAYS LATE.

Brief Reference to Lake Worth, with a Chronicle of Incidents with Reference to the Marionites Who Fan to Keep Cool While We Hag the Fire with Little Shivers.

LAKE WORTH, FLA., March 4.—These notes are contributed from the Lake North region of Florida, though not devoted exclusively to sights or observations here. This point was reached after an eighteen hour ride on the Indian river, in the comfortable St. Sebastian, under charge of Capt. Bravo, an officer who interests and entertains everybody; then eight miles south on a little railroad, the entire distance of which we covered, then eight miles more on a little steamboat with a nervous but important captain, which plies between the Lake Worth landings and the railroad connecting.

The trip was interesting in its novelty. As one comes south on the left is the restless Atlantic in its awe-inspiring immensity; and its lashing breakers or the mass of south bound steamers are often in view; on the right are the unbroken forests, separated by occasional settlements, and back further a wilderness that has never been fully explored. Overhead are hundreds of unfamiliar birds, while on the river's broad reaches are countless flocks of ducks. But the real novelty is the journey through the narrows. They present an entrancing panorama along the narrow and marvelously crooked channels whose margins are often so close that from either side of the boat passengers can reach the limbs of the mangrove trees that line the waterways with an uncanny growth that is both weird and interesting. In fact the banks are not of earth, but simply a growth of these mangroves whose roots are so numerous and far reaching that the water is obscured. The forest is almost impenetrable. This part of the river is by far the most famous navigable portion of Florida.

Lakeworth is 300 miles south and 100 miles east of Jacksonville and about twelve hundred miles south of Marion. We have been here five days and each day has been a day of sunshine. We go to the ocean often, and a sail on the lake is always in order. In front of our hotel is a grove of coconut palms, and amid the branches of this wonderful tree hang green and ripe nuts, and blossoms. I counted thirty nuts in one cluster on a tree near our hotel. At present the nuts have no commercial value. If sold at all one cent is the price, and you can pick one up and smash it at any time. It is small, fine flavored and full of milk.

By invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Jalma Lapham the Marion party partook dinner with these old-time Marionites at their pleasant home amid their beautiful surroundings.

The dinner was such a one as a northern housewife with southern opportunities might be expected to prepare. Two fine gobblers flanked with the usual accompaniments graced the board, and there was besides, new string beans, new tomatoes, guava jelly, delicious selected oranges, and real cow's milk. The Lapham home is upon the most commanding elevation of Merritt's Island, affording a fine view of the river for at least twelve miles of its frontage. An orange grove just in bearing of seventeen hundred trees, surrounds the door yard, and many lemon trees are scattered about. The dooryard, about the size of two town lots, contains twenty-seven bearing orange trees, besides the following fruits: Lemon, persimmon, Japan plum, tiger apple, pinto or China peach, mangrove, mulberry, tamarind, pineapple, date and sugar cane. Of flowers and shrubs we noted hibiscus in full flower, jasmine, banana shrub, crepe myrtle, whistling tree, cape jasmine, pepper tree, cabbage palm, coconut palm and banana plants. Mr. Lapham has his own wharf landing and a neat steam launch, and is thus enabled to move about upon the grand highway, the river, with the independence of a Gould.

The "Solid Comfort" is the house boat of Mr. T. P. Wallace. It is handsomely fitted up to give comfort, and good sleeping accommodations to a party of six. Messrs. Fairfield, Wallace, True and Fisher, of Marion, and Major Frank Laws, of Chicago, recently cruised in her to the Indian river inlet. The boys played a little one on Mr. True, by hitching a sixty-pound shark to his line. Harry pulled in for all he was worth and he will be compelled to "set 'em up" as soon as we reach port.

The boys cruising in the "Comfort" met Senator Quay and party at the inlet where the Senator, by fishing for "tarpon," drives care from his brow and clears his brain for his duties in the senate. Matt Quay is thought much of by the crackers of the Indian river region.

A "tarpon" is the silver king among fish. A single scale of this noble finny king is like a flake of steel and is worth fifteen cents. The tarpon in his might weighs 100 pounds or more, and to pull him in Senator Quay, E. J. Fairfield and others are supposed to use a heavy reel and light strong line, with rod. They all have such things, but practically they pull him in with a clothes line and a hook forged by a blacksmith.

At Eden, on the west bank of the river, Captain Richards has a pineapple plantation of 350,000 plants. This crop pays about eight hundred dollars to the acre. Somewhat better than corn.

Lake Worth is the last lagoon of east Florida or the south end of things. It is twenty-two miles long and nearly a mile wide and has one inlet from the sea. The water is salt and clear as crystal. It is separated from the ocean by a strip of land a half mile wide, which is, by many, considered the most fertile of the state. On the south side of the inlet there is for a distance of four miles a strip of land fronting to the west on the lake and to the east on the ocean that is for one thousand to two thousand dollars per acre. It will raise in winter straw berries, tomatoes, potatoes, egg plants, beets, turnips, etc. with sure returns, and the coconut palm, the most beautiful of trees, grows as in no other place.

We visited one day the ocean beach opposite Melbourne, charming for that purpose the little steamer "City of Columbus," owned by Capt. Hildreth, of Columbus, O., our next door neighbor while in Florida. The trip to the beach included a half mile by land car, propelled by the united man power of the party. We experienced to a greater degree than ever before by this view of the ocean, a feeling of awe and reverence for the mighty power and grand majesty of the ocean forces. The beach was shell-strewn and all "gathered shells by the sea shore." The Two Ramblers dipped their feet in the salty wave, and chased the retreating tide for an hour or more.

En Gallie, Fla., on the west bank of Indian river, is the site of the famous Agricultural College of the state. Here the carpet bag government built a small, two-story house on the beach in front of an untamed forest and thereby secured the U. S. government college lands, which was at once squandered. It is a mournful relic of what man's cupidity will do.

We have been asked to state the difference between eating an orange in Florida and at home. An orange in its native land is plucked full ripe from the tree. A test of weight shows which are the heaviest and these are selected, being those full of juice. A ripe thus selected orange is a well of sugary nectar, and six or eight can be eaten without discomfort. The orange of commerce is evaporated to some extent and is too acid by comparison.

The Marion party in Florida are indebted to Mr. Jimmy Thompson for many favors shown them. His gun, mule and knowledge of the country have all been at our service, and have made our stay on the island a very pleasant one.

Of course there are few snakes in Florida, but every man seems to have a hide in possession. The diamond rattler is a daisy. We saw one stuffed at Cocoon twelve feet long, and they tell of whoppers still larger. Yet Mr. Wallace never met one in thirteen years, while Clifford Kling saw one his first season here.

This thing of sailing on the river requires knowledge. Attigator Smith was a good sailor. His old mother, seventy years of age, came to see him along with his younger brother, and the first time the old lady in all her life put foot in a sail boat. This careful boy and good sailor upset in mid river, and Jalma Lapham had to pull out in a row boat and take the old lady off.

The editor of the Syrup is a high jumper. He stepped nearly upon a water snake and his leap in mid air was athletic in tone, while his yell was siren like in melody.

They tell a good one on Mr. Wallace. Everyone who has been to Florida learns that the only good way to eat an orange is to cut a small hole in one end, sever the course fibre by running a knife about the interior, then roll up your sleeves and go at it, imbibing the juice by the same process that one gets his first nourishment. What has this to do with a story? Well, a gentleman traveling extensively over Florida says Merritt's Island is the only place he ever struck where innocent looking oranges proved to have been planted once, which, after being relieved of their juice had been rolled with old rye, and a quiet, pious man like Mr. Wallace could see as innocently eating an orange when in fact he was imbibing a pleasantly flavored thimbleful of "antidote." The thing is ludicrously recommended.

Lake Worth is considered the most tropical in its views and surroundings of all Florida resorts. It is certainly entitled to the banner in that respect. Here alone the coconut flourishes, and the lion rubber tree, the banyan of this land grows to a wonderful form. The castor bean is a tree of permanent foliage, and tulle roses are a winter outdoor bloomer. The lake teems with fish you can't catch, because food is too plentiful to make them tempting. Nevertheless we shall try them. Our menu here is sea turtle, pompano, blue fish, tomatoes, strawberries, string beans, etc.

The state of weather is always in order. In twenty-one days we have had two days of a norther, and nineteen days of a thermometer range of 68 to 81. While the chill wind blew it was all sunshine and the lee side of things was warm. Otherwise we have perfect June days one after the other without intermit. At Lake Worth inlet on March 24 Fairfield was in the surf fishing without a dry thread on him for two hours without ill effect. Christian and Fisher hopped around on the high rollers just inside the shark limit for a half hour and then ran around in the sun to dry off.

A MOB'S VENGEANCE

Five Seilians Killed at New Orleans Today.

Special to the DAILY STAR.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., March 11.—Five of the nine alleged murderers of Chief of Police D. C. Hennessy, who were acquitted by the jury Friday afternoon, were killed today by an infuriated mob of citizens. The verdict of the jury was a disappointment and very unsatisfactory, and incensed the population against the Mafia. The result is lynch law has done its work.

The scarf that was chanced off by Miss Selanders was drawn by Mr. C. Battenstein, 17 being the lucky number.

Robert Coleman, a farmer's boy, of Little Britain, Lancashire county, Pa., caught in a steel muskrat trap recently. It is reported, a fine fish of the bass species, which on measurement was found to be 13 1/2 inches long and one pound six ounces in weight. The creek had risen during the night and the water flowed over the trap.

A Daughter of the Artists Who Has a Laid Heart.

AN ATTRACTIVE BRIDE.
Of all the girls in New York has come this season Mrs. Frank Vanderbit Crawford, daughter, is certainly one of the most attractive. Her wedding was one of the most talked of in New York society will take a long time when it wishes to choose a notable one for perfection of detail and the presence of many guests, both in the wealth of those who are there and the magnificence of those that were worn. This young lady made her debut but a short time since, was married very young, and has just returned from Oxford, England, with a reputation and will complete his education in England, thus giving up most of the advantages of society in New York. She is the daughter of the New York Senator, and she has a mansion in Washington, and plans to live in Germany. Vanderbit is the high born nephew of the second Mrs. Van Rensselaer.

HE PLATES OF THE GOOD SHIP
MINNESOTA AND HER CREW

At the time of this writing the United States steamship Minnesota lies at the foot of Fifth Street, North river. She is hoisted over for the winter, and I look like the trim little craft in which Noah defied the long wet spell and saved his olden fowl to delight and astonish nations yet unborn. She is one of the United States training ships designated by the secretary of the navy for the pur-

...bed with success, against your bed, and with the dew, and the daisies clinging to your high heels, catch an early morn and stay quickly into the ground. More Works of a thorough cat. If you were writing the poem, warm hand of a noble Elton at the way station at 5 o'clock a.m., and with the melody of music and timothy and night-mare and the first dew and dew-drops it seems, I should humbly, while your eyes were a little under from the partying in the early days of the sleeping carabosse, write you would think (about) could hardly not a handful of fresh air.

Well, that is how all that elevated heart arises me occasionally. It gives me heart failure and a knock-knock poem, but some day will drive me to the use of a grand machine.

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

However, it was not always rotten, nice and gentle, eternal slumber to drive old ship! She has won the deck and comfortable respect that in the twilight of an honorable life. In thanking the officers for the pleasure and delightful hospitality of the day, I let the ship's carpenter to hammer out places where my high hat had had to be and, shaking hands all round, we take our lives in our hands start up Fifth street for home.

It was, along this street, that the master's Japan, so steward was held by a gang and made to treat the ship. I think things have come to pass when our lady is forcibly put within half a dozen blocks of Midland and made to buy rum for old stranger.
